VI- Reading Comprehension (110 Marks)

Read the following passage carefully, and then answer the questions below:

Although not the longest river in America, the Rio Grande is one of the most important. But, unlike other significant rivers, it is not used for shipping. In fact, oceangoing ships cannot navigate the waters. Now, what makes Rio Grande so important is its location. Since 1846, it has been the official border of Texas and Mexico.

The Rio Grande is either the fourth or fifth longest river system in North America. It all depends on how it is measured. Because the river twists so much, it occasionally changes course. And these course shifts can cause it to be longer or shorter. At its last official measure, the Rio Grande clocked in at 1,896 miles. The river starts in Colorado and extends downward to the Gulf of Mexico.

Downward is the best way of describing it too. Not only does the river extend south, but it also starts in the mountains and gets lower and lower in elevation as it extends to the Gulf. Rising as a clear, snow-fed mountain stream more than 12,000 feet above sea level in the Rocky Mountains, the Rio Grande descends across steppes and deserts, watering rich agricultural regions as it flows on its way to the Gulf of Mexico.

Its name is Spanish for the “Big River,” but the Rio Grande is known as Rio Bravo in Mexico. “Bravo” translates as “furious,” so the name makes sense. Because of its twists and turns, it certainly does seem to be angrier than most rivers!

The Rio Grande today is mostly used as a source of drinking water. Sadly, much of the water has been drained from the river. Parts of the river are almost dry! This is because people use more water from the river than the river can get back from rain and other sources. Experts are working to correct this, though, with hopes of restoring the river to its past strength.

Today, the river is important as a source of water for Texans and Mexicans. More important, it is a symbol of cooperation between two nations. Though borders like the Rio Grande separate nations, they are also shared spaces. The Rio Grande is therefore a symbol of friendship and peace between two peoples.

VII- Summary Making (60 Marks)

Read the following passage, then do as required:

Beavers are one of the most interesting animals in the world because of their architectural skills.

To build their houses, beavers first carefully select a location. Usually, beavers choose a place that is close to their food source. Beavers use their teeth to cut down trees and drag them to their building location. No wonder, the idioms “busy as a beaver” and “eager beaver” are synonymous with being industrious and hardworking. Then, they chew on the wood to break it into smaller pieces and start making piles. They use their hands to squish mud between the logs and smack the logs and mud with their tail to make sure everything is sturdy. A beaver’s house is called lodge.
